

Acceptable Use Policy/Student Contract

Coon Rapids-Bayard Community School District

Statement to Parents/Guardians

Technology is a vital part of the school district curriculum, and in order 'to inspire and develop responsible, life-long learners' the Internet will be made available to your student(s). Appropriate and equitable use of the Internet will allow students to access resources unavailable through traditional means.

Students will be able to access the district's network and the Internet with staff supervision. Individual devices, accounts, and electronic mail addresses will be issued to students. In addition, if a student has a personal electronic mail address, the student may, with the permission of the supervising teacher, be permitted to use the address and receive mail at school. Student Internet records and access records are confidential records treated like other student records. The Internet can provide a vast collection of educational resources for students. It is a global network which makes it impossible to control all available information. Because information appears, disappears and changes constantly, it is not possible to predict or control what students may locate. The school district makes no guarantees as to the accuracy of information received on the Internet.

The school district will monitor the online activities of students and will educate students about appropriate online behavior, including interacting on social networking sites and chat rooms. Students will also be educated on cyberbullying, including awareness and response. Employees will provide age appropriate training for students who use the Internet. The training provided will be designed to promote the school district's commitment to:

The standards and acceptable use of Internet services as set forth in the Internet Safety Policy;

Student safety with regard to:

- safety on the Internet;
- appropriate behavior while on online, on social networking websites, and in chat rooms; and
- cyberbullying awareness and response.

Compliance with the E-rate requirements of the Children's Internet Protection Act:

Although students will be under teacher supervision while on the network, it is not possible to constantly monitor individual students and what they are accessing on the network. Some students might encounter information which may not be of educational value. Students' Internet activities will be monitored by the school district to ensure students are not accessing inappropriate sites that have visual depictions that include obscenity, child pornography or are harmful to minors. The school district will use technology protection measures to protect students from inappropriate access, including sites that include obscenity, child pornography or are harmful to minors.

Network & Email Etiquette

The use of the school district's network and email system is a privilege. Inappropriate use will result in a cancellation of those privileges. Students will be expected to abide by the following network and email etiquette:

- As a user of the Internet, students may be allowed access to other networks. Each network may have its own set of policies and procedures. Students will abide by the policies and procedures of these other networks.
- Students will respect all copyright and license agreements.
- Students accessing Internet services that have a cost involved will be responsible for payment of those costs.
- Students will cite all quotes, references, and sources.
- Student access of email will be through staff supervision.
- Students should adhere to the following email guidelines:
- Students will only be able to email individuals – including teachers and fellow classmates – with an @crbcrusaders.org email address.
- Private messages to individuals outside of the @crbcrusaders.org domain will need to be composed, sent, and received with a personal email address and should only be done with the permission/supervision of a staff member and/or parent/guardian.
- Use of objectionable language is strictly prohibited, and can be monitored by District Administration.
- Students will apply the same privacy, ethical and educational considerations utilized in other forms of communication to their email messages and network communications.

Use of Information Resources

Severe penalties may be imposed for plagiarism, unauthorized copying or using of media, including, but not limited to, print, electronic and web-based materials, unless the copying or using conforms to the "fair use" doctrine. Under the "fair use" doctrine, unauthorized reproduction of copyrighted materials is permissible for such purposes as criticism, comment, news reporting, teaching, scholarship or research providing that all fair use guidelines are met. Under the fair use doctrine, each of the following four standards must be met in order to use the copyrighted document:

- Purpose and Character of the Use – The use must be for such purposes as teaching or scholarship.
- Nature of the Copyrighted Work – The type of work to be copied.
- Amount and Substantiality of the Portion Used – Copying the whole of a work cannot be considered fair use; copying a small portion may be if these guidelines are followed.
- Effect of the Use Upon the Potential Market for or value of the Copyrighted Work – If resulting economic loss to the copyright holder can be shown, even making a single copy of certain materials may be an infringement, and making multiple copies presents the danger of greater penalties.

Any student who is uncertain as to whether reproducing or using copyrighted material complies with the school district's procedures or is permissible under the law should contact the teacher-librarian/media specialist.

Students may make copies of copyrighted materials that fall within the following guidelines. Where there is reason to believe the material to be copied does not fall within these guidelines, prior permission shall be obtained from the publisher or producer with the assistance of the teacher-librarian/media specialist. Students who fail to follow this procedure may be held personally liable for copyright infringement and may be subject to discipline by the board.
